BE SAFE - BE RESPECTFUL - BE A LEARNER

Thursday 30th July 2026

A reminder to our school community that parent parking in the staff car park is prohibited, as is using the driveway to make U-turns during drop off and pick ups.

Families and visitors who hold a current disabled car park pass are the only vehicles who have access to the staff car park area.

Unauthorised vehicles moving in and out of the staff carpark presents a risk to our Kingsley students, and we appreciate all families following this simple rule.

There is ample parking close to all school gates, plus our 'kiss & go' area (where parents must only remain for 2-5 minutes)

Thank you

Please remember if you are picking up your child early from school, communication to the teacher via Sentral is the most effective option. Interruptions to classrooms during learning time can be very distracting to both children and teachers. With early notice, teachers can ensure children are packed up and ready.

ATTENDANCE MATTERS

Late Arrival Early Release

Students arriving to school after 8.45am must be signed in by a parent/guardian via the school office.

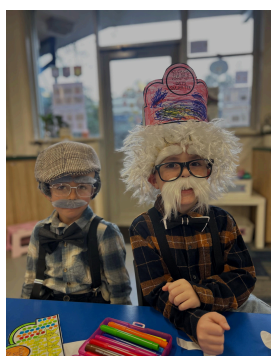

Students will be taken to class by a staff member, we ask that parents do not enter rooms during learning times. Any student arriving to school late without a parent will be marked as an unexplained lateness on their attendance record. All absences require a valid explanation from parents/guardians.

Happy 100 Days of School

What a fun day celebrating our 100 Days of Prep!
We are so proud of the learning, resilience and kindness our preps have shown over the past 100 days as Kingsley Kids. It has been wonderful to watch them grow in confidence, make new friendships and achieve so much in such a short time. While we're a little sad to say goodbye to our dear friend Zero the Hero, we can't wait to see what our Preps will achieve over the next 100 days!

NATIONALLY CONSISTENT COLLECTION OF DATA ON SCHOOL STUDENTS WITH DISABILITY (NCCD)

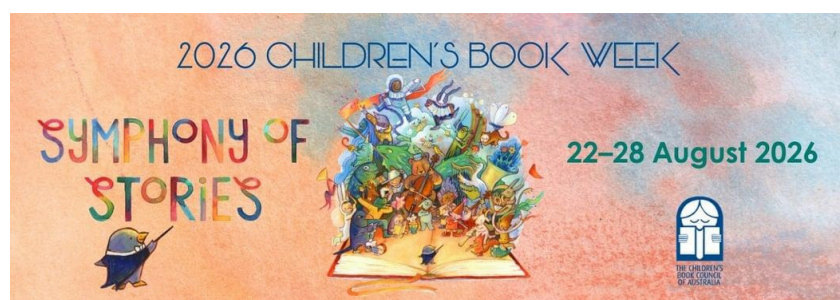

Every year, all schools in Australia participate in the Nationally Consistent Collection of Data on School Students with Disability (NCCD). The NCCD process requires schools to identify information already available in the school about supports provided to students with disability. These relate to legislative requirements under the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the Disability Standards for Education 2005, in line with the NCCD guidelines (2019).

- Information provided about students to the Australian Government for the NCCD includes:
 - year of schooling
 - category of disability: physical, cognitive, sensory or social/emotional
 - level of adjustment provided: support provided within quality differentiated teaching practice, supplementary, substantial or extensive.
- This information assists schools to:
 - formally recognise the supports and adjustments provided to students with disability in schools
 - consider how they can strengthen the support of students with disability in schools
 - develop shared practices so that they can review their learning programs in order to improve educational outcomes for students with disability.

The NCCD provides state and federal governments with the information they need to plan more broadly for the support of students with disability.

The NCCD will have no direct impact on your child and your child will not be involved in any testing process. The school will provide data to the Australian Government in such a way that no individual student will be able to be identified – the privacy and confidentiality of all students is ensured. All information is protected by privacy laws that regulate the collection, storage and disclosure of personal information. To find out more about these matters, please refer to the Australian Government's Privacy Policy.

Further information about the NCCD can be found on the NCCD Portal. If you have any questions about the NCCD, please contact the school.

Our Lost Property is filling up again!

Items left in the yard after play are collected and taken to Lost Property. This can include school jumpers, jackets and even expensive coats. During summer, we also collect lots of hats.

Unfortunately, most of the items we receive aren't named, which makes it impossible for us to return them to their owners.

If your child's uniform or hat is clearly labelled with their name, we'll happily return it to their classroom. If it isn't named, we'll keep it in Lost Property and encourage students to check for any missing belongings.

Families are always welcome to pop in and check Lost Property before or after school.

A quick reminder to please name all uniform items, hats and drink bottles. It only takes a minute and greatly increases the chance of lost belongings finding their way back home.

Thank you for your support in helping us reunite lost items with their owners!

OSHC Educators Day - Wednesday 29th July 2026

Each year the department recognises the services of Out of School Hours Care staff. This year's theme for National Outside School Hours Care (OSHC) Educators' Day is "Valuing OSHC Educators Every Day".

OSHC Educators play an important part in our community by providing safe and engaging programs which support families to work or attend to other commitments.

We would like to recognise the significant contribution our educators at TeamKids, led by Audrey Bragshaw, make and thank them for their tireless work within our program and the wider school community. When you see our OSHC team make sure to let them know how valued they are and your appreciation for all they do.

How you can help us say thank you:

- Say it in person: When you see our OSHC team at drop-off or pick-up, please take a moment to let them know how valued they are.
- Make a card: Encourage your children to draw a picture or write a quick thank-you note to their favourite educator.
- Share your appreciation: A simple "thank you for everything you do" goes an incredibly long way.

We will acknowledge our educators on Friday at assembly.

THANK YOU!

BLACKOUT POETRY

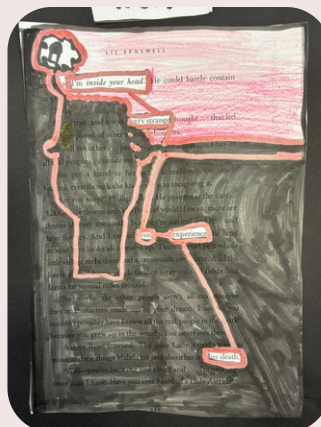

Students who did not attend Snow Camp were treated to learning all about Blackout Poetry. Blackout poetry is a form of 'found poetry' where the poet takes a text and removes words from it, creating a new text through this act of destruction. It can be done to any text: children's books, paperbacks, academic papers, and newspapers are a good starting point. This is often done in the analog world, on paper with dark black ink, which leads to a sense of spontaneity and permanence.

BUILDING CONNECTION ONE CONVERSATION AT A TIME

One of the questions many parents ask at the end of the school day is, "How was your day?" Only to be met with the familiar response...

"Fine."

"Good."

"I don't know."

While these answers can be frustrating, they're incredibly common. Children often need a little more support to reflect on their day and put their thoughts and feelings into words.

Parenting educator and Connected Parenting founder Genevieve (Gen) Muir recommends a simple family connection ritual called High, Low, Buffalo. While the idea of reflecting on the day has been around for centuries, Gen has helped popularise this fun, practical version for modern families as an easy way to encourage meaningful conversations at home.

How does it work?

Take turns sharing three things from your day:

★ High – The best part of your day.

♥ Low – Something that was challenging or disappointing.

🦏 Buffalo – Something unexpected, funny, random or interesting that happened.

The beauty of this activity is that everyone joins in - children and adults alike. There are no right or wrong answers, and no pressure to share more than you're comfortable with.

WHY IS IT SO EFFECTIVE?

Simple, predictable routines like this help children develop emotional awareness, resilience and confidence in expressing themselves. They also provide parents with valuable insight into their child's world - often uncovering small moments, friendships or worries that might otherwise go unnoticed.

Perhaps most importantly, children learn that it's okay to experience both positive and difficult emotions in the same day, and that both are able to talk about.

LISTEN BEFORE YOU SOLVE

When your child shares their "low", try resisting the urge to jump straight into problem-solving.

Instead, responses such as:

- "That sounds really hard."
- "Tell me more about that."
- "I'm glad you shared that with me."

can help children feel heard, understood and supported.

Feeling listened to is often more powerful than having a problem immediately fixed.

GIVE IT A TRY

Whether it's around the dinner table, during the drive home, or before bedtime, High, Low, Buffalo only takes a few minutes but can have a lasting impact on family connection.

Tonight, ask your family these three simple questions:

- What was your high today?
- What was your low today?
- What was your buffalo?

You may be surprised by what you learn and by the conversations that follow.

Small moments of connection, repeated consistently, can make a big difference.
